The Werner Chapel was built in 1287 as a pilgrimage church above the town of Bacharach. The High Gothic building was completed around 1430. Parts of the chapel were destroyed in 1689 when Stahleck Castle was blown up. The ruin is part of the World Heritage "Oberes Mittelrheintal".

Task:
The aim of this architecture studio course is to determine potential new uses for the existing building and to develop designs for the building and its immediate context.
Aim of the course:
- Site analysis with due consideration of historical urban development.
- Building analysis including understanding of the historical context.
- Proposing a new use and developing an appropriate space allocation program
- floor plans, sections, elevations, explanations of the construction, and perspectives as well as design models are required
